1. Introduction

This document reports on the implementation of work related to the achievement of Result 2.2 (Development of the analytical report on information needs of users to enlarge the portal's regular audience) of the CAREWIB Phase II project document.

The main tasks of investigation were:

1. Identification of degree and specificity of users' information requirements within the areas supported by the portal.
2. Examination of main information areas where there is lack of information

The following work has been implemented:

- a) sociological survey among the portal users
- b) quantitative investigation of the portal visits
- c) analysis of amounts and types of the downloaded portal documents

As a result of investigations it was possible to determine the requirement of information content for priority groups of users (decision makers, water management organizations staff, NGOs and the public at large) and to plan the further development of the portal.

2. Results of sociological survey among users

A special questionnaire was developed for the survey and distributed to the sub-scribers. Moreover all project national focal points were involved in the survey and helped with the dissemination and gathering of questionnaires. The survey was made in Russian.

179 specialists from all five countries of region have responded to the questionnaire (some more questionnaires of the survey participants from other countries were not taken into consideration - the assessment was implemented for Central Asian participants only).

Calculation of relative indexes (percentage) could misrepresent results because each of five Central Asian countries had different numbers of respondents. Therefore the numbers of responses given to each of questions are presented below.

Questions and answers are given below.

Because the Portal includes several sites grouped according to certain attributes, it was logical to find out what groups of sites and what information is the most popular for the users. The answers to this question are allotted as follows:

3. Investigation on number of portal visits

The investigation was carried out from January 2007 to October 2008. Both total visitings number and Hits number for certain users groups were being monitored:

1. on domains of regional countries - kz, kg, tj, tm, uz
2. on the most common/widespread international domains - net, com, edu, org
3. on domains of the Russian-speaking countries with which the information and experience exchange is possible in future - ru, az, ge, am, ua, md (Russia, Caucasian countries, Ukraina and Moldova)
4. on domains with the visitings maximum – unknown (unknown ip-addresses, or no possible to identify) and de (probably the German interest to Central Asia can be explained by the Berlin Water Initiative)

Monitoring of the number of visits was conducted for sites of domains both cawater-info.net and icwc-aral.uz.

The total statistics of visits for dates of months is presented in Annex 1.

The tables with the primary data show that the Central Asian countries interest of the Portal is steadily growing that is especially well demonstrated on the diagrams below.

4. Investigation on number and types of the downloaded portal documents

The investigation was carried out from January 2007 to October 2008. The filter which isolates PDF-files (the main format of documents on the Portal) was applied to monitor files downloaded from the Portal. Tables with reference files are given in Annex 2.

The result was to some extent unexpected: the Reference book "Ecological NGOs of Central Asia" published by CAREC was for a long time the most downloaded portal file. Collections of materials on ICWC's conferences being held in Almaty once every second year are also steadily in the second place. In July 2008 a surge of interest to the international conventions - New York 1997, ESPO 1991 and others - is registered. It seems that the reason of this phenomenon is connected with searching for a legislative basis on the water sharing by the countries in the region in order to find a compromise in the situation of water shortage.

Clear-cut tendencies for other downloads have not been discovered.

5. Conclusions and suggestions

1. The Portal CAWater-Info is a unique information product for the services of which the demand is growing slowly but steadily in Central Asia. New services attracting additional portal users are planned to be added (Reference books: "Water Atlas", "Who is who in water management of Central Asia" etc.).

2. A stable interest to the proceedings of ICWC conferences being per se the scientific articles collections containing the water science achievements in the region suggest that the establishment of a special e-journal under the auspices of ICWC would be a good idea. Such an electronic journal, issued 1-2 times per year and placed on the Portal, could attract additional visitors and to contribute to formation of positive image of the Portal and ICWC.
